DETAILED ACTION

Claim Objections

Claims 4-20 are objected to under 37 CFR 1.75(c) as being in improper form because a multiple dependent claim cannot depend from any other multiple dependent claim. See MPEP § 608.01(n). Accordingly, the claims 4-20 not been further treated on the merits.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Douglas et al (US 6,285,454) ("Douglas"), and in view of Saren Johnston's Newsletter of Ames Laboratory, Sensible sensors, March 2002.

As to Claim 1, Douglas discloses a measuring device for optically analyzing a diagnostic test element (1) comprising: a light source (50), a photodetector (60) and a device (10) for positioning the test element (1) in an optical path between the light source (50) and photodetector (60), the light source (50) forming a composite structure by means of a support substrate (75) with an imaging optics (300) and/or the photodetector (60).

Douglas does not reach that the light source (50) has one or more organic light-emitting diodes (OLEDs). Saren Johnston's Newsletter of Ames Laboratory, Sensible sensors, March 2002, teaches a new integrated OLED/optical chemical sensor.

It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was conceived to use OLED in the invention of Douglas, because "the versatility, flexibility and cost-effectiveness of OLEDs offer excellent opportunities for developing OLED/optical chemical sensor arrays and high-density microarrays" (last paragraph of page 1 of the Newsletter).

As to Claims 2 and 3, Saren Johnston's Newsletter of Ames Laboratory, Sensible sensors, March 2002, teaches the OLED sensor to be two-dimensional (page 2, paragraph 3). It would be obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was conceived to have a one-dimensional or two-dimensional light-emitting pixel array in the invention of Douglas in view of the Newsletter, in order to provide higher accuracy imaging analysis of the sample strip.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Clark (US 2003/0010892) discloses an imaging system by replacing the fluorescent lamp with an OLED array.

Cromwell et al (US 2005/0046847) discloses an active sensor with integrated OLEDs.
